

Game Day Plan Due in April

Advanice copies of the new Ballpark's plan for traffic and parking on days starting in 2008 when the Washington Nationals will play at the So. Capitol St. SE facility will undergo discussion and change before being final in April, 2007.

On a week day night (7 pm) sellout there will be 41,000 tickets sold with 37,750 people attending. 15,700 will come by transit through the Navy Yard station on the green line, with 3,900 using other stations, mostly Capitol South in SE on the orange and blue lines.

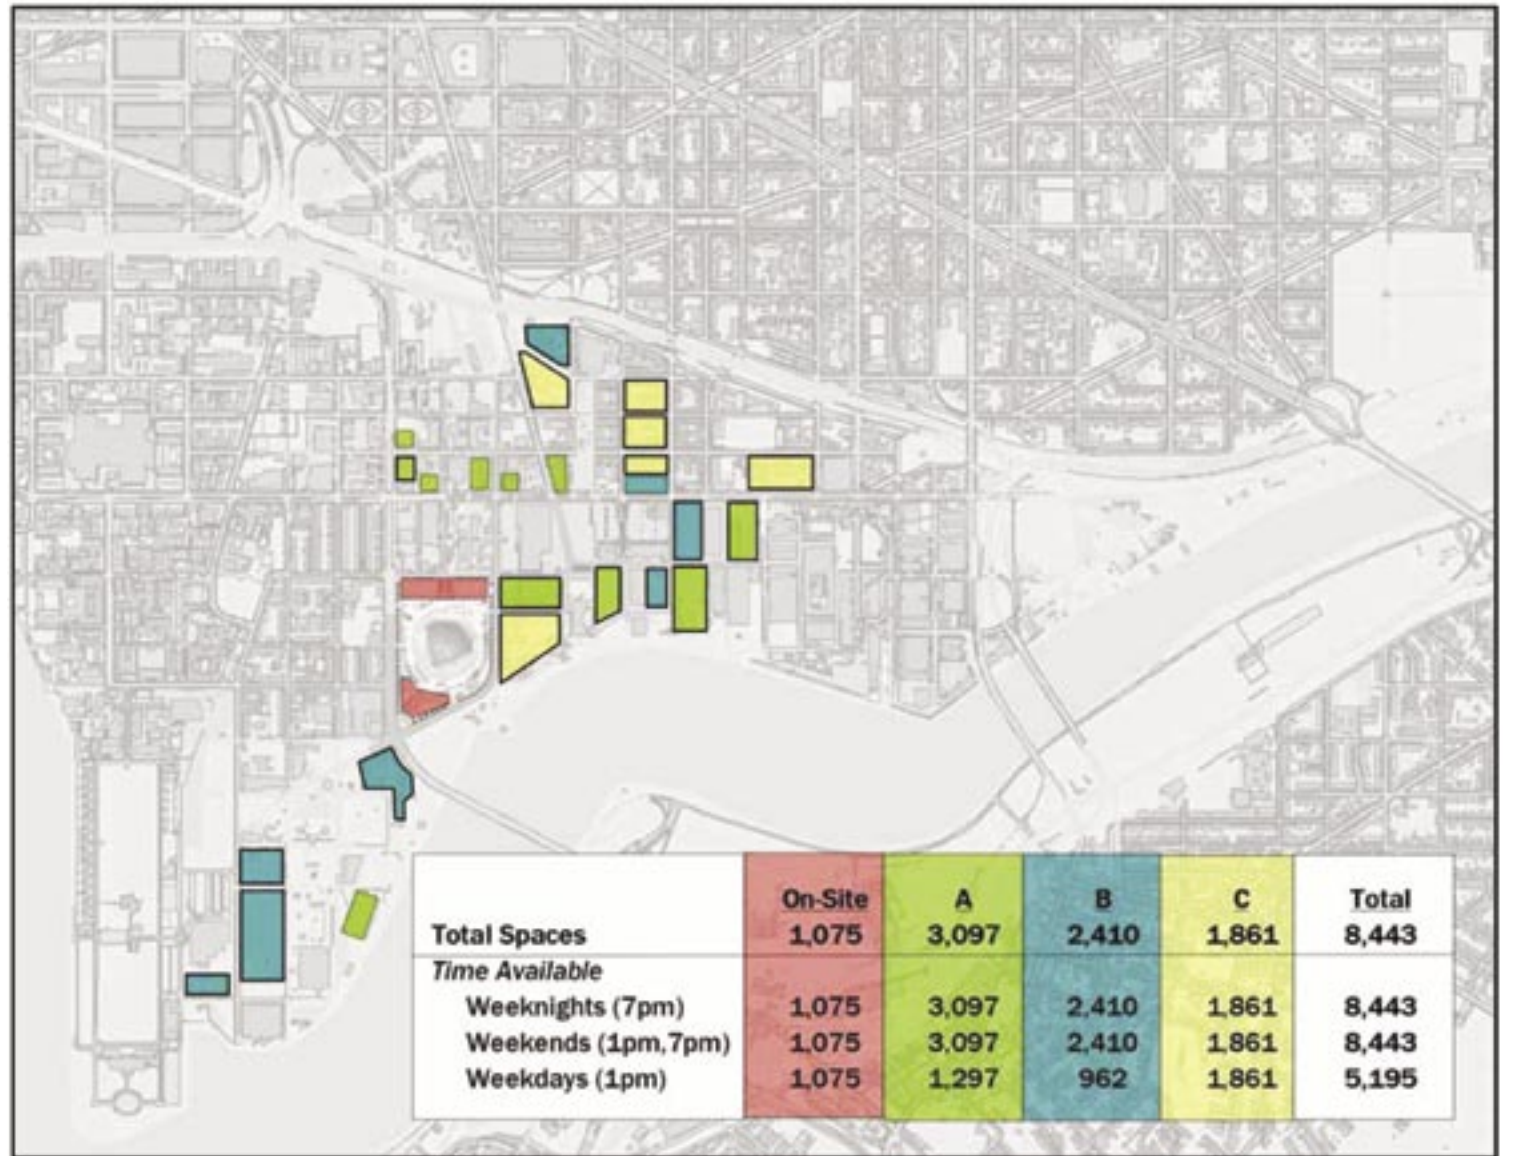

Estimates are that 750 will come on 20-30 charter buses, 4000 will come by taxi, 3,100 will walk, 300 by bicycles and 13,600 people will come in 4,700 autos.

Similar estimates are being made for weekday games at 1:05 pm, Sat. at 7:05 and Sun. at 1:05 pm.

Estimates are partly based on the experience at RFK Stadium and other Ballparks, such as SBC Park in San Francisco.

A few streets in SE will have to be closed to cars to allow crowds to walk to the Navy Yard station. Parking on lots to be built in the Potomac Ave. SW area will be a problem because of the lack of sidewalks.

The DC Sports and Recreation Commission will be represented at the Nov. 27 public meeting of the Southwest Neighborhood Assembly at St. Augustine Episcopal Church, 6th and M St. SW at 7:30 pm.

Drawing showing possible off-site parking areas team owners may contract for fan use on baseball game days starting in the year 2008. Ballpark needs 5,000 parking places. These sites total more than 8,000. "A" sites are most desirable. "B" next, etc. (Source: p. 5 of Ballpark TOPP Taskforce Summary of Recommendations)

Christmas Walking Tour Sat. December 9, 2 PM

The nation's capital offers a festive array of annual events. Come along on this holiday walking tour and hear about Christmas at the White House, carols and pageants at the "Church of the Presidents," and why Washington's earliest residents never put up a Christmas tree. Get some gift buying done at the Decatur House Museum Shop (you can purchase the official White House Christmas ornament there) as well as at the Smithsonian's Renwick Gallery of Arts and Crafts. We'll also stop at the Daughters of the American Revolution Museum to view antique-filled period rooms decorated for the season. The walk will conclude at the White House Christmas tree, where you can also see over 50 individually-decorated trees dedicated to each U.S. state and territory or warm yourself by the blazing Yule log.

Participants should meet the guide outside the McPherson Square Metro-rail Station [White House exit]. The walk lasts three hours and will be given rain or shine. No reservations are required. Cost is $15; age three and younger free. Information: 202-484-1565 or info@washingtonwalks.com

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Thanks from Friends of the Southwest Library

Thanks to the community for making our fall book sale such a success. We made $1,305, and made many new friends and raised awareness of the library as a community resource. The sale proceeds will fund a library Open House in the new year, several programs for Afro-American History Month in February, and some long-overdue toys and equipment for our growing pre-Kindergarten population. Also our next sale is scheduled for May 19, 2007, and we welcome donations of books, tapes, videos, DVDs, CDs, all year long. People can just bring them to the Circulation Desk at the library, at 902 Wesley Place (3rd and K Sts. SW). Thanks so much for your continuing support.

by Michael Frayn
directed by Jonathan Munby
December 15, 2006 through January 28, 2007
in the Kreeger

From the brilliant Michael Frayn (Copenhagen, Democracy) comes this riotous comedy of backstage politics and onstage pandemonium. As a third-rate theater troupe tours the third-rate farce Nothing On, the actors create a first-rate farce of their own – forgetting lines, dropping trousers and losing countless plates of sardines. Behind the scenes, love triangle and ruined affairs add fury and revenge to the mayhem under the lights, leading to pratfalls, flying props and more than one bloody nose. In the end, at the frenetic final performance, the two farces merge into one perfectly ravaged and wholly uproarious theatrical nervous breakdown. The sparkling cast includes Arena Stage favorite Bob Prosky.

Pumpkin Party at Westminster Presbyterian Church

What do you have when you take a room filled with children, then add 70 pumpkins and several dozen background in dress making, pattern scarecrows? It must be the annual Pumpkin Party for the Southwest community. On Saturday, Oct. 28, more than 85 neighbors of all ages celebrated Halloween at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Participants from Westminster were joined by members of St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church in hosting this event. Volunteers helped attendees carve, paint, and decorate their pumpkins. Other helpers cooked and served a tasty lunch. After all the fun, every pumpkin and scarecrow had found a new home.

Special thanks go again this year to Steve McGehee, Safeway Produce Manager. He negotiated a substantial discount for the pumpkins so that we had plenty for everyone. We appreciate Safeway's continued commitment and cooperation in supporting community events.

Westminster looks forward to seeing our neighbors again on Saturday, December 9, for a free Wreath Making Party. Join us at 400 I Street, SW from 1 to 3 PM. We will also have sweaters and coats on sale for 10¢ to 25¢. To donate warm clothing, please leave a message at 410 212-4360.

Police Party a Success

(ANC Commissioner Mary Williams note to First District Police Commander)

The Halloween party at First District was a tremendous success by all accounts. The officers outdid themselves and the community really turned out, particularly from PSA 104. It seems that the First District was the prime place to be, rivaling the King Greenleaf Rec Center.

Much kudos to those who helped make it a success. I know that Irv Gamza and Officer Boone worked hard on keeping up with the children. Now I know what the schools go through each day. It's a mad house sometimes, and there was the normal pushing and shoving to get into the haunted house. Eventually, the officers brought them under control. But it is this sort of exposure that teaches the children how to behave in public.

There were hundreds of trick-or-treaters on this night, up from in past years. The increasing number is a sign that residents are feeling safe enough to tread out doors. I had about 50 kids and parents knock on my door [on Carrollburg Place] for candy.

SW Tree a Champion

by Grace Daughtridge and Ron McBee

Casey Trees announced on November 2nd the results of its Living Legacy Campaign to identify and catalog the city's largest trees by species. The Zelkova serrata located on G Street and 6th Place SW is the largest Zelkova in the District and 11th largest over all. The rating is based on a point system used by the National Register of Big Trees, which takes into consideration the tree's circumference, height, and crown spread of its limbs. The giant Zelkova, a Japanese tree, at 64 feet tall, 216 inches round and with a canopy spread of 74 feet registered a record breaking 299 points.

The great Zelkova is a part of SW's history. Joseph Curtis noted SWer and whose photographs reside at the Washingtonian Room at the MLK Library, took a picture of this wonderful tree in the 40s prior to the redevelopment of SW with a note indicating the tree was over 200 years old then. Although a city tree, it resides in front of Grace Daughtridge's home and she has been able to find out that the city saved the tree during the urban renewal in 1960 expressly because of its rarity. The city redirected all utilities away from the tree's root system and the side walk was especially constructed to protect and encompass the root system. Grace indicated it is rumored Lady Bird Johnson was involved to help save the tree. Folklore has it that the tree was brought to SW from the orient by Admiral Perry but Grace has not been able to confirm it.

Grace, who is now a volunteer Citizen Forester for Casey Trees, is working on preserving and maintaining our city's trees. Casey Trees will expand and include more species to the legacy list added Grace. This all started with water in my English basement and a condo association who wanted to cut down the gigantic Zelkova as a solution to the water problem. Grace found out that tree roots do not break water or sanitary pipelines and saved the tree. Grace indicated saving Southwest's only living historical artifact has been quite an adventure and gratifying that I could do this for our community.

The champion tree in the 600 block of G St, SW.

Students Interview Astronauts

On Nov. 14, in honor of International Education Week, the U.S. Department of Education hosted high school students from McKinley Technology H.S. in DC, Washington-Lee in Arlington and Walt Whitman in Bethesda, at the Department's headquarters in Southwest Washington.

The students were able to ask questions of the astronauts aboard the International Space Station by means of a satellite hookup. Washington Cable provided the satellite downlink so the students could see and hear the astronauts live.

Jefferson Jr. PTA Seeks Community Help

By Ahmad Nurridin, PTA Pres.

Jefferson is embarking on a campaign entitled the "Pride is BACK". As a component of the "Pride is Back" campaign the school's Parent Teacher Association (PTA) seeks community sponsors for a number of projects and activities.

Three examples of Jefferson needs are: (a) the Science Department, which has traditionally produced several 1st Place Winners in the City Wide Science Fair needs temporary laboratory space adjacent to the school; (b) because Jefferson is slated to become a middle school program with the next school year, students in both the 8th and 9th grades will graduate, therefore end-of-the year activities will require twice the normal amount of support; and (c) the PTA needs funding to provide materials, equipment, and furnishings for the Parent Resource Center.

Any person or organization wishing to support the "Pride is Back" campaign may make a tax-deductible contribution to the Jefferson PTA, 801 - 7th Street, SW, Washington, DC 20024. Donors may identify a specific project for support or make a general fund contribution.

For additional information on how you can assist the PTA and the "Pride is Back" campaign, contact Jefferson JHS PTA President Ahmad Nurridin on 488-0739 (email - anurridin@yahoo.com), 1st Vice President Lanette Mauney on 526-4973 (email - DWM1016@aol.com) or Jefferson JHS at 724-4881.

Master Weaver Featured at December 6 Art in the Spirit Monthly Program

by Elaine Graves

Barbara Peirce, a master weaver for nearly 30 years and a southwest resident, will be the featured artist at the monthly series, Art in the Spirit, on Wednesday, December 6, beginning with a potluck at 6:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of St. Augustine's Episcopal Church, 600 M Street, SW. The fifth in a series of Art in the Spirit programs invites community members to experience what it means to be human, to be alive and to be co-creators with God's divine spirit.

Barbara's talents as a fiber artist extend to the inspiring circular woven tapestry behind St. Augustine's altar, which she explains, "suggests water, as the spirit of God, touching each of the continents of the earth." She also wove several vestments and liturgical stoles and banners for St. Augustine's where she is one of the original parish families. Her unique creations of sweaters, jackets, pillows, stoles, and scarves reflect her extensive design and weaving.

The program begins with a 6:30 p.m. community potluck dinner, followed at 7:15 p.m. by the Art in the Spirit program and discussion. A short Evening Prayer service will begin at 8:15 p.m.

The evening is designed to showcase local artists particularly as they express, through their various mediums, the fundamental joy of creating in the Spirit, according to Annie King Phillips, creator of Art in the Spirit.

Annie King Phillips, an artist and St. Augustine's parishioner, originally conceived the Art in the Spirit series in June 2004 when she explained the spiritual inspirations of her paper collage creations and conducted a collage workshop. Ms. Phillips is emcee for the current series.

Facilitators for Art in the Spirit include Janet Eberhardt and Pastor Phillip Huber.

For further information, contact St. Augustine's at 202-554-3222.

"Cooking Without a Stove" Cancelled

by Jean Macdonald, Chair, YATF

Southwest's Youth Activities Task Force, with the help of some generous friends, delivered a free Kenmore electric stove and vent to the King Greenleaf Recreation Center recently.

"Cooking Without a Stove" was Rec Center Director Joyce Carey's newest offering to her young clients. A microwave is better than nothing - but hardly the best way to learn nutrition and cooking.

The Rec Center needed a stove and YATF's Leonora Moragne found a good one offered on Craig's List - in Kensington. The stove owners, Marti and Katie Sarber, were willing to donate it to us. To pick up and deliver this great free stove required a truck and two muscle men to lift it. Lonnie Murray agreed to drive his truck, (and give up his Saturday morning), Ms. Carey found a friend, Joe, for one "muscle" and Jean Macdonald asked the grandson of old friends, David Crane, to be the other.

So, on Saturday, October 21, about noon, the stove was carried into the Rec Center, where it awaited hooking up. Soon, there will be classes on nutrition and cooking at King Greenleaf—but this time it will be "Cooking With a Stove."

ANC Seeks Grocery Store Commitment

ANC 6D chairman Andy Litsky has stated that one holdup on community and developers reaching agreement to move forward on Waterside Mall redevelopment seems to be solved. Waterfront Partners "[would] not commit to removing the 'out' in the current PUD that says if another grocery store is located anywhere between the Navy Yard and the Fish Market south of the expressway, that they are not obligated to put a grocery store at Waterside Mall after Safeway's lease expires in 14 years." [See ANC Commissioner Max Skolnik's report set out here].
